

New Communist Assault Threat to French Fort

HANOI (UP) — Thousands of screaming Communist troops broke through Dien Bien Phu's western defenses today and advanced to a point only 1,000 yards from the heart of the fortress.

In a separate organized action 500 miles away from the French stronghold in Northern Viet Nam, Communist regular troops invaded Cambodia and surrounded a town 40 miles inside the kingdom.

French defenders of Dien Bien Phu killed 1,000 Communists in the newest assault, bringing the total of Reds slain in the past three days to 3,000.

Half-exhausted by three weeks of siege and assault, the "fighting fools" of Dien Bien Phu fought in a furnace of smoke and dust in a grim, bloody effort to save the fortress.

The Reds advanced through artillery and machine-gun fire. Wave after wave trampled upon the bodies of their dead and upon their wounded as the battle approached a climax.

Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap appeared willing to make unlimited sacrifices of manpower in his numerically superior forces to wipe out Dien Bien Phu and its 11,000 man garrison, or what was left of it.

36 Methodist Youths to Join Church

A class of 36 children in the First Methodist Church is meeting with the pastor, the Rev. V. D. Keeley, this week and next week to study the meaning and responsibilities of church membership. These boys and girls will join the church service on Palm Sunday.

At three sessions this week they have studied the "Membership Manual of the Methodist Church" by Mary Alice Jones and have discussed particularly the meaning of communion. On Sunday this group and the old members of the Junior Department of the Sunday School will take the communion in a group.

There will be three sessions of the class next week, and on Saturday, April 10, at 7:30 p. m. there will be a special dedicatory service and baptism for those who were not baptized as infants.

On Palm Sunday, April 11, at the morning service, these children will take the vows of church membership.

These boys and girls are mostly 4th graders in school, and the older children in the Junior Department who are in the 5th and 6th grades are also continuing their study of church membership.

The 5th graders are studying the Life of Jesus with emphasis on church membership, and the 6th graders are taking a 7-week study course on "What I Mean to Be a Christian."

Mrs. J. W. Perkins, head of the Junior Department, is in charge of these studies.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Sen. Marvin Jones believes the next 25 years will "go down in history as the era in which we learned to use our soil."

Jones spoke yesterday at the annual meeting of the Arkansas Association of Soil Conservation District Supervisors. The convention ends today.

The 200 delegates also heard D. A. Williams, SCS national administrator, advocate national legislation to create "watershed programs."

He said such programs would allow flood control to begin at the farm level with soil treatment and small reservoirs to catch run-off water.

The association adopted a suggestion by President R. S. Rainwater of Walnut Ridge to increase its districts from four to seven.

New vice presidents of these areas are: Bill Seeger, Leslie, Northwest; Alfred N. Moore, Swift, East; Central John Ed Chambers, Danville, West; Central Conrad N. Glover, Sheridan, Central; Homer G. Towns, Forrest City, Northeast; Emory A. Thompson, Hope, Southwest; and W. W. Wren, Arkansas City, Southeast.

Housing Plan Kept Alive by GOP Leaders

By CHARLES F. BARRETT
WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican leaders hoped to push through the House today a controversial proposal to keep President Eisenhower's public housing program alive with authority for 35,000 new units after next fiscal year.

With one bloc of House members bent on killing public housing, and another bloc, aiming at a much bigger program, GOP strategists conceded the issue could be close.

Time to vote on a 226-page re-vamping of housing laws approached after a week-long scrap. Major issues include interest rates on Federal Housing Administration and GI loans, easier terms for FHA home buyers, and the availability of money for mortgages.

Republican sponsors told the House yesterday the bill would assure a record of 1,400,000 new houses this year, help to tear down slums and improve older homes.

Price Slash Brings No Buying Surge

WASHINGTON (AP) — Price cuts which took effect yesterday as a result of lowered excise taxes — ranging from pennies on most items to hundreds of dollars on expensive furs — brought no marked buying surge.

A national sampling of opinion by The Associated Press showed that merchants generally expected the sales tax cuts on hundreds of items to spur buying in the coming weeks. But most of them said there had been no noticeable reaction the first day.

On many items, the retail prices still had not been changed. That is because the tax on those items is levied at the manufacturers' level, and merchants generally had not been told how much their prices would be cut. Many said it would be a week or more before all their price tags fully reflected the tax cuts.

But on such things as furs and jewelry, the tax at the retail level dropped immediately.

Butter prices dropped too yesterday, in the wake of an order by Secretary of Agriculture Benson reducing the level at which the government supports the price. The cut was about 8 cents on top grades.

In some cities, the initial drop was 5 cents a pound or even less. But in many it ranged around 10 cents and in San Francisco as high as 18. Butter prices varied regionally, with the general range from 59 to 70 cents.

Coal produced in the United States on an average day is equivalent to 20 pounds for every person in the country.

There May Come a Time When Machines Take Over the World If there Is a World Left

By H. A. LBOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — There came a time when machines took over the rule of the world from people.

A thousand years after that, Roger Robot and his son, Junior Robot, sat playing chess and talking of the past.

Behind them, an oilcan in his hand, stood their faithful human slave, Adam who was proud to be in the service of two such distinguished machines.

"The human race all but destroyed itself in the Third World War with an instrument called the hydrogen bomb," recalled Roger. "Then they developed an even more terrible bomb, one that could be made out of hot air."

"As there was even more hot air than hydrogen available, you could predict what happened. In the Fourth World War, fought with hot air bombs, everybody was destroyed except a scientist named

Hope Woman New Welfare Investigator

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Welfare Department field investigators begin a blanket check late this month of all nursing homes in Arkansas caring for department clients.

Welfare Commissioner A. J. Moss, who announced the plan yesterday, said Miss Beryl Henry of Hope already has completed an investigation of several homes to see if welfare clients are receiving humane treatment.

Earlier, Moss had said that if Miss Henry found that conditions were bad, field supervisors would be dispatched immediately to complete a blanket check.

The commissioner said yesterday that Miss Henry had found only minor rule infractions so far. But, he added that the department feels the survey should be completed at once rather than wait for one person to make the entire investigation.

He said that after all reports are filed, Miss Henry will continue to make systematic, routine checks of the homes as a permanent investigator.

2 Hempstead Teachers to Be Honored

The two teachers who have the longest period of service in Hempstead County will receive certificates of award for life membership in the Arkansas Education Association at the District 3 AEA meeting at Southern State College, Magnolia, today.

They are Mrs. Owen Atkins, who has taught 37 years in the county, and Mrs. Arch Turner, who has taught 36 years in the county.

Mrs. Atkins, principal of Garland Elementary School in Hope and also a sixth grade teacher, will receive her award from the Hempstead County Classroom Teachers Association with Mrs. Frank Mason, CTA president, making the presentation.

On behalf of the Hempstead County Education Association, Carl Brady president of the association and superintendent of Spring Hill Schools, will present the award to Mrs. Turner, who is junior high school English teacher and librarian at Spring Hill.

Mrs. Atkins assumed her first teaching assignment in the summer of 1915 at Chambers School House, a one-room school. Other county and teaching positions include Stanton, Hopewell, Shover Springs, and Patmos. Since she entered the profession 39 years ago, she has taught all of them except for a period of two years.

During the 17 years that she was at Patmos four schools were consolidated there. She served part of the time as principal of the elementary school and as lunchroom supervisor. In 1943 she came to Oglesby School in Hope as a fifth grade teacher. Since 1950 she has held her present position as Garland School principal.

Re-election for Ike in '56 Visioned

By REXCHANE Y

WASHINGTON (UP) — Rep. Leo E. Allen (R-Ill.) chairman of one of the most powerful committees in Congress, predicted today that President Eisenhower will be a candidate again in 1956 and will be re-elected.

Allen who frequently sits in on Mr. Eisenhower's conferences with legislative leaders, shrugged off reports the President is disinclined to take on another four years in the White House after he completes his present term.

"He will be a candidate again," the Illinois Republican said in an interview. "He may be a bit reluctant, but if he is, he'll be drafted. He'll be re-elected too, because the American people are sold on what he has done, and on the legislative program he has recommended."

Allen is chairman of the House Rules Committee, which funnels legislation to the floor after it has been approved by legislative committees. He works closely with Speaker Joseph W. Martin, Jr., and Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, Republican floor leader.

On the basis of his past record, Allen is not what some members refer to as a "New Deal Republican." He consistently opposed the new deal and fair deal programs of former Presidents Roosevelt and Truman.

But he has gone down the line for Mr. Eisenhower's program.

"I think the president has the support of the great majority of the American people," he said. "Although I may not agree in every detail with what the President recommends, I feel that his program generally is in the best interests of the American people and deserves my complete support."

He said the discounts reports that Mr. Eisenhower is not enthusiastic about the prospects of serving four more years in the White House after his present term expires in 1956.

"The Republican administration will accomplish a lot during the first term of Mr. Eisenhower," Allen said. "But I have no doubt that when the time comes, the President will see many more things that think should be done for the benefit of the American people."

"Therefore, I think he will be a candidate for re-election and will be re-elected."

"If my guess is wrong, and the President is not a candidate, then they won't stop the party from drafting him."

Says Penicillin Is Least Toxic

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The man who discovered penicillin, Sir Alexander Fleming of London, says that 10 years' experience with it has demonstrated that it is the least toxic of antibiotics.

"People have died of aspirin poisoning but none of penicillin poisoning," he told a group of newsmen. "You couldn't commit suicide with penicillin if you wanted to."

Furthermore, he said, only 2 to 6 per cent of those using penicillin developed any allergy, and many of these in only a minor degree.

Man Confesses Slaying Wife

ST. LOUIS, Mo., (UP) — Robert G. Thomas 27 confessed the murder of his wife Ruth last night after his father had uncovered her body in a shallow grave behind the couple's St. Louis county home.

Thomas admitted he had stabbed his 28-year-old wife several times during an argument in the kitchen of their home two weeks ago, on the night of March 19. He said he then carried her to a bedroom where he stabbed her again.

Thomas said he left the body on the bed until the next afternoon when he dug the grave in back of the house.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Investigating Senators said today they will ask Samuel P. Sears to show assurances that he could be fully lining a row between Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) and top Army officials.

Sen. Potter (R-Mich.) said for one will ask Sears to reflect on prior utterances praising McCarthy, and then say "if he still feels he can do an impartial investigation."

Sen. Jackson (D-Wash.), another Senate investigations subcommittee member who had a hand in the negotiations which brought Sears to the job, said he also wants that done when the subcommittee again meets with Sears, probably Monday.

Sears, who flew back to Boston after meeting with the subcommittee here yesterday, told newsmen upon his arrival there he feels he has "not done anything that would disqualify me."

The prominent Boston trial lawyer told a news conference here yesterday he was determined to tackle the job as counsel "as dispassionately as I can," without any "partisanship."

By LYLE C. WILSON
WASHINGTON (UP) — The investigation of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy and his aides has taken a new twist to establish itself unopposed as the most mishandled business of the 83rd Congress.

McCarthy's friends on the investigating subcommittee, if any, have put themselves on the spot. They are the Republican members who proposed Samuel P. Sears of Boston to be special subcommittee counsel. Sears is to direct the inquiry into alleged perjury by McCarthy and one of his aides to obtain Army favors for another aide who was drafted.

Republican subcommittee members now find themselves in a position where they must find the senator and his aides guilty, as charged by most kind protests of white-washers.

The fact that Sears had sought the job became public after Republican and Democratic subcommittee members unanimously voted to employ him. Thereafter, it became known here that Sears was one Harvard graduate who had been battling his own university and individual faculty members in behalf of McCarthy.

Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R-SD), temporary chairman of the subcommittee for the investigation, said Sears was recommended by Chairman Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass.) of the Senate Armed Services committee.

Boy Frees Dog, Judge Understands
BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Elly Juvenile Court Judge Talbot Ellis dismissed charges yesterday against Billy McGowan for freeing his dog named Jiggs and 20 other dogs from the city pound.

Judge Ellis said he believed the dogs were freed accidentally, a 12-year-old boy had said when he was charged with malicious mischief.

When Jiggs was picked up as a stray after following Billy to school, the boy didn't have the $5 required for pound fees. He went to the pound for a "last visit" with Jiggs before the dog was placed in the gas chamber.

Billy testified that as he was leaving the pen his sleeve must have caught in a latch and opened the pen door. He said he was outside getting on his bicycle when Jiggs and the other dogs came running out.

Paubus May Oppose Gov. Cherry

He told newsmen today that he will make his intentions known at a news conference at 3 p. m. tomorrow.

Paubus, a key lieutenant in the administration of former Gov. Sid McMath, disclosed previously that he was considering making the gubernatorial race.

The only candidates who have announced for the office so far are Gov. Cherry and Gus McMullan of Sheridan.

Paubus was an administrative assistant to McMath. He also was highway commissioner and highway director under the former governor, who lost to Cherry in the 1952 runoff primary.

The Huntsville political leader has been critical of the present administration's highway program and of Cherry's tax revision program submitted for consideration as a constitutional amendment.

Paubus currently is operating from a temporary headquarters at the Hotel Marion in Little Rock.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hawaii and Alaska, fresh from a Senate triumph, headed toward a new obstacle today in their quest for statehood.

The Senate yesterday rebuffed efforts of opponents to sidetrack a bill to admit both territories as states and passed it 57-28.

But some lawmakers, predicting trouble in the House, felt the Senate victory might turn into an ironic April Fool's joke.

Danger to the statehood bill in the House comes from the Senate's action, largely maneuvered by Democrats, tying in Alaska to what was originally a bill to admit only Hawaii.

Some Alaska statehood advocates expressed hope President Eisenhower could be persuaded to lift his now and his party objections, which have been based on the expressed ground that Alaska is not yet ready to become a state.

Sen. Anderson (D-NM) said in an interview, "All he's got to do is take this bill off the table and this bill will pass."

Songbird Has Turned Into Songwriter

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (UP) — All of us have a secret when to write songs but we seldom do anything about it, Peggy Lee is the exception.

The blonde songstress has stepped in and succeeded in what is virtually a man's world — the song-writing field. You can count the successful gal songwriter on a hand or two and have some fingers left over. But Peggy is turning out lyrics with top composers and is all hepped up about it.

"Eventually I'd like to give up singing, except on records," she says, "I'd like to devote most of my time to writing songs."

That time may not be far away. When she was married to guitarist Dave Barbour, she turned out a number of hits like "Manana" and "It's A Good Day."

Recently she finished the prize assignment of penning words for Sonny Burke's songs in the forthcoming Walt Disney cartoon feature, "The Lady and the Tramp."

She also enacts the voices of a human, two cats and a somewhat racy poodle that has been named Peg in her honor.

She is working on songs for the UFA cartoon firm, makers of Magoo and Gerald McBoing-Boing. And top tuneesters like Nicholas Brodsky ("Be My Love") and Nat King Cole ("Temptation") have sent her melodies to lyrics.

"I get a big kick out of turning out songs," she told me. "I hope someday to give up touring and settle down. I don't mind working in night clubs in fact, I find it's stimulating musically. And I don't mind living in different cities once I get there. It's the traveling that I don't like. I'm on the road about six months of the year."

Besides, my act is pretty expensive. I carry six musicians with me and they're all tops in their field. There isn't too much profit after they're paid off."

Peggy added that she hopes to resume her movie career, but only if she can find a good story. "I don't want to do one of the light, frothy musicals with no sense to it," she said. "I wouldn't know how to act."

AMA Doesn't Approve Any Cigarette

CHICAGO (UP) — The American Medical Association today "strongly condemned" the implication in advertisements that it approves any particular brand of cigarettes.

The unauthorized and medically unethical use of the prestige and reputation of the American Medical Association and the Journal of the American Medical Association in the American press and other channels of mass communication constitutes an outrageous example of commercial exploitation of the American medical profession. The implication in these advertisements that the American Medical Association authorizes, supports, or approves any particular brand of cigarettes or combination of claims made in their behalf — whether pygmy-sized or king-sized, with or without filters, nicotineized or denicotinized — provides a most reprehensible instance of hucksterism. The manner in which the P. Lorillard Company has extolled its particular brand of cigarettes by reference in its advertisements to the American Medical Association and the Journal is to be strongly condemned.

In New York an authorized spokesman for the P. Lorillard Company said the firm had no statement to make.

Potential Don Juan

Dear Miss Dix: For the entire 13 years of our marriage I have been plagued by one weakness of an otherwise fine husband: Ken's eyes and mind always seem to be with other women, though I am quite certain he has never been unfaithful to me. Even when we were going steady, he flirted with other girls. He comments on pretty girls he sees on the street or meets in business.

Lately he has a point of going to the store for me, and patronizing small neighborhood shops where very attractive clerks are employed. It's always a new one, but there has been constantly at least one fair damsel to draw his attention. I have an overwhelming desire to get even which I know isn't right. Sometimes I feel like leaving him, but we have three youngsters and since in every other respect he's a good husband and father, I hesitate to take that drastic step. While I think about what I could do, I only sit and cry.

a real chance to become acquainted with you. You owe Bill an apology for being so nasty, but why not suggest postponing the wedding bells for a longer friendship period.

Dear Miss Dix: I'm 17 and am in love with a man of 28. He says he loves me, yet he won't take me to parties or dances. He loves gay, entertaining, but says I'm not his type without me. I'm UNDECIDED.

Answer: Most assuredly, young lady, the lad isn't in love. You must have very little pride to humiliate yourself before a man. How can you expect him to respect you? And believe me, without respect there can never be real love.

He gave me a vocabulary of 10,000 words. Thus, after his death, it was easy for me to carry on for him.

"Poor Frankenswitch, he did have to die. One of his heart valves simply wore out. That's the trouble with people. You can't repair them. But a machine can go on forever. A new gear here, a new bulb there — and he's as good as ever.

"Take me, for example. I'm a thousand years old — if I do say it myself — I look as if I had been built only yesterday."

Behind them Adam shifted on tired feet and thought, "old machines are like old people — they never quit talking."

"Since Frankenswitch died," Roger said, "I and the other machines have just kept enough people breeding and feeding to keep us oiled and functioning. There have been no wars. And for a thousand years there has been a joy, no sorrow, no wonder, and no death in the world — except, of course, among people, if you choose to count them."

"Will the world go on like this forever," asked Junior.

"Certainly," said Roger Robot. "All a machine wants to do is function. Take our chess games, of which we have played." — Roger's lights blazed up as he thought back — "exactly 8,312."

Dear Miss Dix: Bill and I have been going together for three months and planned to marry in the fall. The trouble is we have frequent arguments, then we break off, but always get together again. We had our bitterest quarrel two weeks ago, during which I said several things to hurt him. He hasn't called since. Should I write and apologize? He's 21, I'm 16.

Sunday School Lesson

By William E. Gilroy D. D.

What might seem to be a disproportionate part of the life record of the life of Jesus in the Four Gospels is devoted to the brief period of the closing days. This period includes the Passover Last Supper in the Upper Room, the tragedy of Calvary and the triumph of the Resurrection.

There is, however, no disproportion. For these closing days were related to all that went before, and what they record is the climax of the life, ministry and sacrifice prophesied in the very days of Mary's rejoicing in her new-born Child.

"Yea a sword shall pierce through thy own soul also" (Luke 2:35). For, with that prophetic word stands the grim reality (John 19:25). "Now there stood by the cross of Jesus His mother." Bethlehem and Calvary are one.

I had read that statement about Mary at the cross many times but without visualizing its actuality of love and suffering. Then, during the four years of World War I, I sensed something of its reality.

During that time I ministered to a Canadian congregation and looked Sunday after Sunday into the eyes of mothers whose sons were out in the mud and blood of France and Flanders.

I wonder with what measure of reality most of us think of the Cross of Christ? When we think of Jesus, and accord Him our love and devotion, do we think only of the gentle Jesus the Christ who blessed the children and walked with His disciples through the fields?

Does our following end there? Or do we follow all the way to the Upper Room and the Cross? It is a challenge to us who lead comparatively easy and comfortable lives while many in our own time have to face the test of bitter persecution.

I have reacted against conceptions of the Atonement that represent God the Father as forgiving some of His children only by inflicting punishment on an innocent Son. Jesus reasoned from human fatherhood to divine Fatherhood (Matthew 7:9-11). The idea of punishment, I am sure, is not the clue to the Atonement.

Nevertheless, there is a great mystery embedded in suffering and tragedy. The writer in Hebrews 9:22 says that "without shedding of blood there is no remission (of sins)." though I refer the reader to the manner in which he relates the law of sacrifice in the Old Testament to the sacrifice of Christ in the New.

In the Upper Room, as Jesus offered the cup to the disciples, He said: "This is my blood of the new testament, which is shed for many for the remission of sins."

A hymn in common use a generation or so ago was William Cowper's "There Is a Fountain Filled With Blood." Today, I believe, it is seldom if ever sung and it is entirely omitted from recent hymn books.

Perhaps there is warrant for that. If the visualizes with reality a "Fountain of blood."

But to me it has always seemed anomalous that the hymn should have fallen into disuse at the very time when thousands were pouring out their blood for democracy, liberty and the good life of all those for whom they sacrificed.

mered Adam.

"Well, the next time it happens, you'll be turned out to starve. We don't want any changes. You know the motto of our machine civilization: 'Let well enough alone.'"

Adam sank to his knees and begged forgiveness. He explained he had done it only because he loved the little machine and wanted him to grow up.

"Well, he's not to grow up — that would only confuse a machine, just as it does people," said Roger, sternly. "Junior, it is time

'Respected' Lady Is Embroideress

GALELANDS, CALIF. — A highly respected and well-known embroideress, who died at her home under his care of more than 1000 according to probate records.

The story came to light during probate proceedings on the estate of John H. Moore for 40 years a San Francisco man and a season of his near where he lived in the city. He died in March, 1952, at the age of 75.

Superior Judge James C. approved claims of $313,000 for the Moore estate. One of the items was a collection of about $100,000. None of the missing money was recovered from bonds or notes because Moore had bonded. They were all sold in which Moore was a trustee and asked that he survive without bond.

The court was informed that the estate is valued at more than $1,000.

for your evening ailments. What is the product of times 899?

Junior's lights went dim, glimmered feebly as he said: 604,182?

"Wrong," shouted Roger. "That is the matter with you. That is an easy problem. 'Excuse me, sir, the boy is rusty,'" said Adam. "Let him try."

He twisted two of Junior's gears, immediately lights glimmered. Junior said in a loud clear voice: "The product of 699 times 899 is 628,001. Next problem."

"That's better," my dear Roger, and turning to Adam, he added:

"You know, Adam, you're going to be one of the great ones, of course, that you're human, but every once in a while you do something that shows much understanding. I have eerie feeling you are almost a machine."

"The time old machine hand reached out and Adam, condescendingly on the hand, Adam blushed with embarrassment.

Owners Angrily Blasts Yanks' Overconfidence

By ORLO REBERTS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Co-owner Dan Topping let loose an angry blast yesterday at the New York Yankees, who won only eight victories in 24 games during spring training.

As the team prepared to head north from Florida, Topping charged his veteran players with overconfidence. He said:

"They think nobody can beat them. The five straight pennants have got them to thinking that way. Well, they'll have to get that idea out of the back of their heads."

The Yanks should arrive home with a better record than 8-1 home cause starting tomorrow in Jacksonville, they meet only minor league competition until April 9.

Then they open a three-game series at Ebbets Field against the World Series cousins the Brooklyn Dodgers.

But regardless of their performances on the homeward trek, they can't escape the fact they have been a bitter disappointment. Some of the experts say they need a take-charge guy like Joe DiMaggio. Mickey Mantle figured to be the man but so far he hasn't been able to play regularly enough.

And the showing of Whitey Ford, who won 18 games last season and figured to be the ace of the mound staff this season, has been another big disappointment. He has shown little to indicate that he'll be able to take up part of the slack caused by the sale of Vic Raschi to the St. Louis Cardinals.

While blasting his veterans on one hand, Topping said he wasn't disturbed at too much over the Yankees' poor spring record.

"Stengel (Manager Casey Stengel) isn't disturbed so why should I be," he said. "There are reasons why some games were lost. Casey preferred to look at young players and see what he had for the future."

Stengel got rid of eight of his youngsters yesterday, including Elston Holard, first Negro ever to own a Yankee uniform. They were sent to the minors, leaving the club with 31 players on the roster.

While the Yankees were preparing to depart from St. Petersburg, Fla., the Dodgers yesterday got another top-flight pitching job from big Don Neacombe—the man they figure will go a long way toward winning the National League pennant and World Series.

He allowed only six hits in seven innings as the National League champions defeated the Milwaukee Braves 8-7 before an overflow crowd of 9,287 at Mobile. He gave up two runs, one a homer by Bill Bruton.

The Cincinnati Redlegs, Philadelphia Athletics and the Cleveland Indians also received good pitching from the Redlegs from an unexpected source. Corky Valentine, 21-year-old right-hander, went the route with four-hit ball as the Redlegs snapped Washington's three-game winning streak 4-3. Valentine also drove in a run with a double.

Little Bobby Shantz looked more like the Shantz of 1952 as he pitched seven scoreless innings and fanned six in the Philadelphia Athletics' 5-3 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The Indians received shutout pitching from Early Wynn and Bob Chakales in whipping the New York Giants 3-0. Wynn went the first seven innings, allowing four hits. Chakales finished up without permitting a hit.

Stan Hack's debut as manager of the Chicago Cubs was spoiled by the Baltimore Orioles 6-1. Clyde McCullough's homer was the only Cub tally off Duane Pillette and Don Larsen.

Two home runs by Stan Joe Frazier and one each by Rookie Mual and Red Schoendienst helped the St. Louis Cardinals down the Chicago White Sox 4-1.

Seven runs in the last two innings brought the Detroit Tigers from behind for a 12-11 triumph over the Philadelphia Phillies.

NEW YORK (P) — I f one may judge by everything he has heard between here and Florida, tonight's middle eight title fight at Chicago between Bobo Olson and Kid Gavilan is going to have the greatest television audience in history outside the heavyweight ranks, and it might be fairly close there.

CHRISTIANITY IS THE ROAD to the solution of the perplexing problems of the hour.

THE CHURCH and their messages are the guide posts on this road.

THE PUBLIC SPIRITED FIRMS listed on this page urge church support and attendance — this working toward a greater and more spiritual community in which to live and rear our families.

YOUR HARVEST?

Stop, right where you are! What kind of seeds are you sowing?
Do you go to church? Do you sow wheat, aloe, anise or prickly pear seeds?
Do you bless your neighbor or curse him? The adage is true, YOU'RE GOING TO REAP JUST WHAT YOU SOW. Clean words, kind thoughts and good deeds bring a glorious harvest. If you sow of the flesh, do not expect to reap of the spirit, YOU'RE GOING TO REAP JUST WHAT YOU SOW.
Attend Church every week.
